Martin Says First Objective Is To Parè Government Costs

Balance Budget and Wipe Out Inflation At The Roots, He Argues

(Special to the Courier)

BOSTON, Feb. 9 — The first objective of the new Republican Administration at Washington is to pare government costs to the point where the budget can be balanced at a substantially lower tax rate, and thus wipe out inflation at the roots, U. S. Senator Martin (R., Pa.) declared here today in an address before the annual meeting of the American Road Builders Association.

Senator Martin recommended that the Federal government withdraw from the field of gasoline taxation, and put the administration and operator of the highway program back in the control of the states, with the understanding that all revenues rising out of road use be used to improve the system, and that self-liquidating improvements such as road and bridges be emphasized.

"In considering all these factors it is imperative to view the problem in relation to the over all picture. We must place the financing of highway expansion in its proper

A company spokesman said the cause could not be determined until a complete investigation of the euipment was made. He discounted the possibility of sabotage.

Another boiler is rapidly being put into operation to restore the plant to production. The boiler that exploded had a capacity of 300,000 pounds per hour of steam pressure. It will be out of service for an indefinite period.

Heart Disease Listed As "Cornered Killer"

Long Way to Go, But Will "Wipe It Out," is The Promise

Heart disease is America's greatest killer — three times deadlier than cancer, 11 times worse than pneumonia, 14 times tougher than tuberculosis.

This week — American Heart Week — the nation helps fight back, with all its hearts. And, thanks to research, a bad heart no longer must mean invalidism or death. Science is salvaging hearts — and lives. The article that follows, first of a series of five, tells the basic facts about your heart, and its future.

By Jack Geiger
(INS Science Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 — (INS) — Heart disease is a corned killer.

We're going to wipe it out. We've already started, though we still have a long way to go.

The evidence? It's walking down the street, sitting next to you in movies, doing business with you. The woman shopping, the youngster digging for home on a base-

Jail-Breaking Gunman Is On "Most Wanted" List

Native of Penna. Jabbed Through the Prison Wall With Barber's Shears

Joseph James Brletic, Pennsylvania desperado ,has been placed on the FBI list of the nation's "ten most wanted" fugitive criminals. He replaces bank robber John Joseph Brennan, captured in Chicago Jan. 24.

With the addition of Brletic, the FBI blacklist of top fugitives is again at full strength. Since the International News Service series on the "most wanted" men began in March, 1950, the authorities have seized 27 of the dangerous lawbreakers, and another was slain while resisting arrst.

By James Lee
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9 (INS) Joseph James (Zump) Brletic, jailbreaking gunman with a long and shocking criminal record, achieved today the sordid distinction of enrollment on the FBI list of "ten most wanted" fugitives.

The 25-year-old native of Wilmerding, Pa., has been sought since Sept. 6, 1948, when he jabbed his way through the wall of the St. Louis county jail at Cloyton, Mo., with a pair of barber's shears.

G-men warn that Brletic, who has served time for rape, robbery, and auto theft, is known in the underworld as a desperado willing to shoot it out to avert capture.

At the time of his escape, the hardened young criminal was awaiting trial for robbery and car theft, offenses climaxing a wild foray including six armed robberies in Allegheny County, Pa.

Brletic, whose nickname, "Zump," is tattooed on his left arm, is known to have started his flight by hopping rides on westbound freight trains and was reported seen in

Charles Hargens, Carversville, Is "Adopted" Into Sioux Tribe

By Mitchell C. Hodges
(Daily Intelligencer-Courier Feature Service)

"East is east,
And west is west-
And never the twain shall meet."

Said Kipling, some years ago. Not always true, would say Charles Hargens, an illustrator, who lives near Carversville.

For Mr. Hargens, who has lived in Bucks County since 1940, with his wife, Marjorie, was born and raised in the Black Hills of South Dakota. He first saw the light of day in Hot Springs, a town about thirty miles from Rushmore, where gazing out at the world are the huge heads of several notable Americans, sculptured by the late Gutzum Borglum.

Even today, situated in a County which is famous for its scenery, Mr. Hargens continues to do Western illustrations for Western stories, books and advertisements.

To aid him in this work, he has on hand countless phptographs of Western subjects—horses, methods of transportation, Indians, etc. He

Cite Assessments In Lower Bucks As Merger Basis

18 Municipalities Could Be United Into One Large City, Say Advocates

The increase in the assessment on real estate in Lower Bucks County is being cited by those who propose that the area be made into one big city. The increase is given as more than $21,700,000 in 1953.

The municipalities in which this figure was computed for tax purposes include the nine townships and nine boroughs which have been defined by the Office of Rent Stabilization as a critical defense housing area.

These 18 municipalities also are regarded as the inclusive area which the Philadelphia Housing Association last week suggested might be incorporated into one city to meet new government demands.

The 1952 assessed valuation on real estate in that area of the county totaled nearly $59,300,000, while the valuation for this year reached a total of nearly $81,000,000.

The municipalities included in these evaluations are the townships of Bensalem, Bristol, Falls, Lower Makefield, Middletown, Newtown, Upper Makefield, Wrightstown and Northamtpon and the boroughs of Bristol, Hulmeville, Langhorne, Langhorne Manor, Morrisville, Newtown, Penndel, Tullytown and Yardley.

The greatest increase among these municipalities was in Falls township, in which the new sprawling steel plant recently began production.

Falls township's assessed valuation on real estate rose from $11,230,443 in 1952 to $21,137,187 this year. This sharp rise was attributed largely to the increased value of the steel plant as construction progressed during the last year, and FALLSINGTON, Feb. 9 — A "friend in need" in the person of Chico Vejar, well-known middleweight boxer, has been found by two Pennsbury school district teachers who were seriously injured in a motor accident during Thanksgiving holidays.

Both were removed to Coaldale Hospital suffering from internal injuries, abrasions, etc. A sister of Miss Hessert was released from the hospital sometime later.

Miss Krzywicki, who was listed in critical condition, was reported as having lost the will to live, and hospital authorities held fears that she would succumb. In addition to having a delicate operation, it was feared that she would lose one of her arms, but this has been saved.

Council May Impose $5 Head Tax Tonight

A Lively Session is Likely Over Adoption of the Annual Budget

A lively session of Bristol Borough Council is in prospect, this evening, when council meets to consider the budget and several other matters of major importance.

Several meetings have been held in the preparation of the budget. New sources of revenue are being sought, without increasing the tax rate. The suggestion of a head tax has been advanced and this, it is said, is causing some friction among the councilmen. It is reported that some councilmen oppose the head tax which it is stated may be fixed at $5.00 per person.

More police are being urged, better traffic control by making several additional streets "one-way" thoroughfares, and increased water supply, are some of the other problems confronting the councilmen.

Increased income of approximately $9,000 is estimated from increased tax assessments. This, it is believed, will all be used for increased salaries of borough employees.

Council meets in open session tonight at eight o'clock in the municipal building.

2 Automobiles Are Wrecked in Area During Week-End

North Carolina Man Pulled From Wreckage; Car Catches Fire

Two automobiles were wrecked in lower Bucks county during the week-end, and one driver was injured. One of the vehicles caught fire.

A North Carolina motorist suffered injuries and had a narrow escape from being burned, when his car struck one of the abutments at the twin bridges on Route 13, Falls township, at 3:45 this morning.

The injured man is Lionel F. Renegar, age 29 years, of Yadkinville, N. C. Extent of his injuries is yet to be determined. It is stated that Renegar was removed from the wreckage of the car, in which he was pinned, before the flames reached him. Firemen of Falls twp. and Morrisville Fire Companies answered the alarm, and removed Renegar from the car. He was riding alone.

Ambulance of Union Fire Co. was used to take Renegar to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J.

The car was listed as a total loss.

William S. Gross escaped with a scratched nose after smashing his brand new car into a telephone pole in Bristol early yesterday, snapping the pole in half and destroying the auto.

Petition Falls Supervisors For Street Lighting

LEVITTOWN, Feb. 9—The Falls twp. supervisors today are receiving street lighting petitions signed by 67 per cent of the Levittown-Falls residents.

The petitions were circulated last week-end by some 25 members of the Levittown Civic Association, with Chairmen Bernard Korson, of the Health and Safety Committee, and Martin Lavens, of the Governmental Committee.

Korson today said: "Lights will be on throughout Levittown, wherever the circuits are completed, by the end of this week. This is the result of six weeks of hard work."

The two committees called on 1,000 homes over the week-end, in Lakeside, Pinewood, Willowood, Elderberry Pond, Magnolia Hill and Birch Valley. Only 1.7 per cent of the residents declined to sign the petitions, one man saying he hadn't noticed whether the lights were on or off, and another telling the committee workers that he didn't want to stand the expense of lighted streets.

Street lights went on in Farmbrook last week as a result of Korson's committee's action. Korson said he referred to the Bristol twp. commissioners an inquiry by a Farmbrook homeowner, and the lights were turned on the following night.

A lighting petition previously signed by Levitt & Sons was rejected by the township when it was maintained that the builder is no longer the freeholder in those

AND PETROL, TOO

Americans learned long ago that it pays handsomely to sell the sizzle as well as the steak. "Service" stations, in the American argot, have become all that the name implies and more. One of the crushers for Americans motoring about the British Isles has been the studied refusal of British "service" station operators to give service when the motorist stopped by to gas—pardon us—petrol up.

It appears now that all this will come in for a change in Britain, for competition is about to reappear after a 12-year hiatus. The government, which indirectly marketed the juice that makes British cars go, under a pool arrangement, is now allowing major oil firms to get back in business and put their advertising and sales promotion brains to work for a change.

During the last decade, American gasoline marketers read with horror, British drivers never got their windshields wiped when they bought gaso—petrol—and practically had to threaten bodily harm or resort to bribery to get the oil and water checked. They couldn't even borrow a rag, in many stations, to do their own windshield wiping.

The British approach to advertising and sales has never been described as frenetic, so it is to be doubted that there will be an overwhelming flip flop in sales methods. But many of the large chains are sending their sales people to school and have borrowed American sales promotion films to get over the point that "the customer is most important," if not always right. Outside of London, one correspondent gleefully reports, pretty girls are doing the servicing chores, which certainly is a nice way to break the ice.

In drawing on all phases of sales experience in this country, the British should not overlook listening to the customers. One drawback to American techniques has been an occasional tendency to make the customer an unwilling captive of the sales force once he has entered the station. The British should note this and adopt a middle-of-the-road policy.

HULMEVILLE — At the special meeting of council held on Friday evening after viewing the streets in the morning, the widths of streets and sidewalks were decided upon and plans drawn up so that the surveyor, Charles Moon, would have something to work upon and he began the work of surveying the streets on Monday. "Lake Lambert" the trotting horse owned by Spencer B. Hibbs, of Hulmeville, won the race and captured first prize at the Trenton Fair, on Tuesday. The same day Thomas McFarland's horse "Almeda" won two heats when the finish was postponed until yesterday.

Instruction will be given in plain sewing, embroidery and drawn work. The school is non-secterian and children of all religious denominations will be cordially welcomed. At a recent meeting of the teachers the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Charles Bruden; vice-president, Mrs. Goodell Hartshorn; secretary, Mrs. D. Mast Gordon; assistant secretary, Mrs. H. S. Rue; treasurer, Mrs. James Lefferts.

Heart Disease Listed

ball sandlot, the man running a factory drill-press: They may be heart patients.

They were saved from wheelchairs — or graves — by other evidence. They are the living testimony of research in laboratories where volunteers walk endless treadmills, rabbits lie etherized on tables, and scientists squeeze poison from the skins of toads — to help your heart.

If you are 30 or older, and healthy, you're almost certain to have some form of heart or blood vessel disease, mild or serious, some time — but if you understand your illness and help fight it, your chances of overcoming it shoot up.

That scientific evidence may save you, too.

For your own heart's sake, this is what you need to know. This is the whole truth — and nothing but the truth — about your heart's future:

First — Some forms of heart disease can be prevented and a few can be cured outright.

Second — Most heart patients can hold a job, earn a living, raise a family, lead useful and happy lives.

Third — Almost every heart condition can be improved with proper treatment. Science is erasing the grimmest word: "Hopeless."

Fourth — The best-treated heart disease is the one that's spotted early.

Fifth — Don't take your symptoms to heart, take them to a doctor. Many so-called "heart" symptoms don't indicate cardiac disease at all.

In the careful world of science, these are sweeping statements. But there are facts to support them.

Bacterial endocarditis — An infection of the heart lining — once was 100 per cent fatal; now it can be cured in almost every case.

Babies born with holes in their hearts can be patched or stitched in many cases, to perfect health Americans are ready to wipe out rheumatic fever, one of the greatest heart cripplers, in a nationwide prevention campaign. Even high blood pressure, still a mystery, can be alleviated most of the time.

Some of the advances seem unbelievable — probably because we are so conditioned to think of the heart as a frail and delicate thing, to think of every heart attack as fatal.

Surgeons are opening little steel umbrellas inside beating human hearts. Slapping patches across leaky heart walls, slitting thickened valves — even inserting new, man-made values of plastic or flesh.

In Cleveland not long ago, a specialist said:

"My patient was 52 years old . . . His coronary arteries were hardening and his heart was starving for blood. I took a vein from his arm and sewed it into his heart to give the muscle a new blood supply. That was two years ago. Yesterday he beat me at golf."

Yet the scientist is almost helpless before the sick heart's greatest enemy: Fear. In New York, one doctor said:

"I saw a woman of 80 recently with a heart nearly twice its normal size. . . . diseased, working hard to keep going. She's a serene old girl, and she's got years left in her yet. But if she knew the whole story — and worried like the average patient — she'd die in a week."

This is no plea for ignorance. Doctors only wish the facts — and they are hopeful — would replace unreasoning fear.

The anxiety is understandable. Americans love statistics, and heart statistics can be terrifying.

Cardiovascular disease is our greatest killer, three times deadlier than cancer. It accounts for one in every two deaths. In 1951, it killed 763,000 Americans — more than all the people in the city of Pittsburgh. It will kill 82 million Americans now alive — unless scientists keep finding new treatments. It afflicts about ten million people — one in every 17 — right now.

But your own heart has some impressive statistics, too. In the time you have taken to read this, it has stroked about 1,050 times; it will beat two and a half billion times before it's ready to quit.

It's just a hollow muscle, the size of a fist inside your chest, and it weighs only about one pound, but today and every day it will pump about ten tons of blood — 20,000 times its own weight — through your body.

In one year it sends 650,000 gallons of blood spurting through about 12,000 miles of arteries and veins. Yet in the average lifetime it will rest 40 years — between beats.

Most of all, this tough, rugged pump "wants" to keep beating, its steady stroke began before you were born and is inherent in the nature of heart muscle. It makes its own adjustments for age, and science can keep it going strong and steady — if you give your heart a break.

(Tomorrow: Saving Young Hearts)

While only about 4 per cent of acute rheumatic fever cases die in the first attack, 12 per cent die within five years, and 20 to 30 per cent die within 10 years.

Las Vegas, Nev., a few weeks after his break.

The young gunman has an "itchy foot" and seldom stays long in one place. His favorite haunts are race tracks and gambling places. Under the alias "Frank Garfolo" he has worked as a pin boy in bowling alleys, and as a gambling "shill."

Even his underworld pals stand in terror of Brletic's violent temper. In one fit of rage, he broke into a pool parlor and wrecked the place.

Here are aids to identification of the "most wanted" fugitive:

Aliases — Joseph John Brletic, Frank Garfolo, "Zump."

Description—age, 25; height, 5 ft., 10½ in.; weight, 160 pounds; eyes, brown; hair, dark brown; complexion, dark; build, medium; race, white; nationality, American; occupations, coremaker, trucker, munitions worker, bowling alley pinboy, gambling table "shill."

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Courier:

Recently you published a series of articles, in which a number of citizens of Bristol had been interviewed and they expressed their views on the past year's accomplishments, and what the coming year held in store for Bristol in the way of business prosperity. In a way, they were interesting, (but practically all alike) and in regards to the past, well, that is history and about the only use for most of it is, to correct or prevent the mistakes that were made.

Looking into the future, I suppose their guess is as good as any one's. But suppose we take a look at the present, and I mean just that, today, tomorrow and every day until something is done about a few things which will continue to annoy the public, until something is done about them.

You see, we have heard so much recently about Mill St. and what the merchants must do to keep the big bad Levittown business center from stealing their business, we sort of forget there are a few other important streets in Bristol. So for one thing, I would like to suggest that the Hon. Burgess of Bristol and the Councilmen take a walk out Beaver St. and take notice of the sidewalk conditions from 4th Ave. to U. S. Route 13. I would advise a clear dry day for this walk, unless they wish to see this piece of street at its worst. In which case, you then select a rainy day or a time when there is snow or ice on the ground, and take the walk at a time when the employees of the Kaiser plant are either entering or leaving their parking lot. This should give an idea of what the condition really is. And I do trust that this Hon. body can find time to take this little walk.

If after this little tour of inspection, the Hon. Burgess or the Councilmen can find a street in Bristol which can boast of a worse sidewalk condition, I will donate $25.00 to their favorite public charity.

Let's give the pedestrian a break, as he also patronizes the Mill St. area.

Very truly yours,
MILL ST. PATRON.

Western Illustrations

has a chestful of Sioux Indian apparel, mostly made of buckskin.

And he has quite a collection of Western equipment—saddles, chaps, hats, and guns used in the frontier days.

The walls of his barn studio are covered with samples of his Western paintings and sketches. And when Mr. Hargens was interviewed, he was wearing over his shirt a Sioux buckskin vest.

"Being an outdoor type of person, I wanted to get out of the city—into the country. So we left Philadelphia and came here."

The two Hargens live in a house, part of which is made of sturdy logs and dates back to about 1700. They have one son, Charles H. Hargens III, who lives in Oreland. He is an M.I.T. graduate, on the research staff of Franklin Institute, Philadelphia.

"I go home every summer for a month or so," said Mr. Hargens, "to renew my point of view, get rejuvenated. I make sketches and take photographs which help me fashion my Western work when I return to Bucks County."

He said that for many years, his brother, Holland, had operated a ranch on the Cheyenne River in the Black Hills owned by his father. It was 16,000 acres in size, though most of the land was given over to pasture for the cattle and horses that were raised.

"The Federal government recently built a dam, the Angostura Dam, a few miles below the ranch. Last summer, I found that the water had backed up to the ranch buildings. When the dam is completely full, the ranch buildings will be 30 feet under water!"

He laughingly remarked that perhaps this coming summer, he would visit the ranch by rowing over it in a boat!

"When I was eight, I found I could draw, that I could turn out pictures of buildings and places which people would quickly recognize. I liked to read and to imagine pictures of various settings in a book."

Mr. Hargens studied art in Chicago, at the Art Institute, and spent several years at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia. On a scholarship received from that institution, he spent a summer in Europe, mostly in Paris.

He admits that it was at the Academy he met Marjorie, who was to become his wife. "Yes, the Academy has been a good sort of matrimonial bureau for many persons."

For many years, Mrs. Hargens kept up with her art work, doing considerable advertising work. She did a series of fashion drawings for the Ladies Home Journal for two years.

During his period in the West, Mr. Hargens frequently talked to and became friends with Indians. He took many pictures of them when he ran across them at rodeos or other get-togethers.

"They gave me an Indian name. I don't recall what it was now, though I have a record of it somewhere. But translated into English, it means "Charley Push."

He thinks they gave him that name because of the fact they so often saw him pushing the click on his camera.

His father, Dr. C. W. Hargens, is still very much alive and living in Hot Springs. The Sioux Indians call him "Big Smoke." Dr. Hargens is one of the pioneer doctors and surgeons in that part of the country.

He was made a member of the Sioux tribe by adoption. This gesture was probably occasioned by the fact that for many years, Dr. Hargens ran his own hospital and took care of many Indian patients.

Mr. Charles Hargens occasionally has entered exhibits in some of the art shows at Phillips Mill, New Hope, but he doesn't consider himself an artist of this region.

He also has had water colors shown in a number of national art shows.

The local interests of Mr. Hargens include the Boy Scouts. For ten years, he was Scout Master of the Carversville Troop. Now he is Neighborhood Commissioner.

He is also an avid photographer, both in black and white and color. He was President of the Bucks County Photographic Society last year. "Taking pictures has been a hobby of mine for the last 25 years," he remarked.

RESOLUTION

At the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway held at Penndel, Tuesday, February 3, 1953, after full consideration and discussion of report submitted by John A. A. Crowley, Chairman of the Public and Business Affairs Committee, the Board adopted the following Resolution:

RESOLVED, that the Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway go on record as favoring the action recently taken by the Board of Supervisors of Middletown Township in adopting an ordinance amending the Middletown Zoning Ordinance of 1948 to permit the erection of new homes in certain sections of the Township under restrictions designed to assure maintenance of proper housing standards in tracts properly provided with water, sewers, and paved streets.

This Kiwanis Club further extends the hand of welcome to prospective residents of this area who come to share in the expansion of this great Lower Bucks County development.

the influx of thousands of new residents connected with the plant's operation.

Next highest increase was in Bristol township, where assessment valuation rose from $8,136,140 last year to $11,974,774 for 1953.

Among the boroughs, Bristol showed the greatest increase with real estate assessments at $7,522,890 in 1952 and $8,564,199 for this year, according to the figures.

In Morrisville, last year's assessment figures and this year's were $3,615,080 and $4,242,399, respectively.

The Lower Bucks county assessment total of nearly $81,100,000 for 1953 was seen as a tax base from which the suggested incorporation of the area as a city could be estimated.

In suggesting the merging of the 18 municipalities into a city, the Housing Association, in its publication, Issues, stressed the handicaps of multiple government in administration and tax collection in the rapidly expanding area of the county.

"The pattern of government in that portion of Lower Bucks county which is getting most of the new residences is that of a rural township," the association said. "These municipalities at present have neither the staff nor the resources to perform much-needed planning."

The association pointed out that Levittown, parts of which lie within four separate municipalities, presented the greatest problem to government officials of the area.

Recently, Bristol township, one of the three townships in which Levittown lies, requested the Institute of State and Local Government at the University of Pennsylvania to make a study of Levittown to determine whether the best solution in that community would be separate incorporation.

Dr. Stephen B. Sweeney, director of the institute, said his organization had submitted to Bristol township commissioners a detailed proposal of procedure in making such a study and the cost.

Regarding the proposal that the 18 municipalities be incorporated into a city, Dr. Sweeney declined any comment.

Yesterday, two Bucks county leaders expressed differing views regarding the one city suggestion.

Joseph W. Hallowell, chairman of the county commissioners, said he was "definitely against the plan."

"I think townships can take care of conditions that arise within them. Townships outside of Bucks county that adjoin Philadelphia, as in Delaware and Montgomery counties, have taken care of increased population in the past.

"I am definitely against the plan of making Lower Bucks county into a city and I assume that other government officials of Lower Bucks communities will oppose it," Hallowell said.

Franklin E. Wood, director of the Bucks County Planning Commission, declared:

"We (the commission) are trying to get people to realize that many of the problems confronting the vastly expanding Lower Bucks county area can be solved best by viewing the problems on a regional and long-range basis, rather than restricting them to a community boundary line.

"There is a need for a regional approach to the problem of expansion in Lower Bucks county. However, we must recognize that any change to take place will probably come about gradually as everyone recognizes the need."

perspective to all government expenditures, Federal, State and local.

"It is my unalterable belief that our future as a free Republic of free people cannot be maintained without a sound, economical and solvent foundation.

"I am convinced that we cannot effectively safeguard the security, stability and economic progress of our country without balanced budgets at all levels of government, a sound currency and lower taxes.

"The first objective — one that should be a must for all government officials, is to eliminate every needless or non-esential expenditure — to cut away all waste — to wipe out all functions and services that we can do without — until we have balanced the budget.

"Then we should put more emphasis on greater savings until we can bring down the oppressive burden of taxation which bears so heavily upon our people today.

"We cannot go forward to greater achievement as a Nation on borrowed money.

"With a National debt that is approaching the statutory limit of 275 billion dollars, the time has long since passed when we must call a halt.

"We must reverse the trend — and we will — because we know that continued deficit financing is one of the worst dangers we face.

"It is the real cause of inflation because it pours unearned dollars into circulation. The only sound dollar is a dollar earned by production. Real prosperity cannot be built on printing press money.

"We, in the United States have not had a sound currency for 19 years. To save America we must turn back before it is too late."

He stopped by Miss Krzywicki's bed and managed to engage the despondent girl in a brief conversation. Since that time, he has returned to the hospital frequently, and has been spending quite a bit of time with Miss Krzywicki.

The new "treatment" has been showing considerable success, according to hospital officials. Miss Krzywicki has regained her interest in life and now is on the sure road to recovery, they say.

Vejar's visits still are continuing, and Miss Krzywicki, while still far from complete recovery, has high hopes of regaining her health. Speculation is running high to the effect that, when this happens, Vejar's visits will not cease. But neither he nor Miss Krzywicki will comment on this.

LOWER MAKEFIELD TWP. — Feb. 9 — Members of the English faculty, Pennsbury high school, were addressed by Miss Eloise Wilson, of the department of speech, Rider College, Trenton, N. J., on Feb. 2nd. Miss Wilson spoke about general problems in speech improvement in the secondary school.

After emphasizing the values of a large, usable vocabulary and a broad background of reading as fundamental to speech improvement, Miss Wilson discussed techniques for interesting high school students in speech activities, for helping students to develop poise, and for improving voice and diction.

A few students of high school classes have been chosen by Miss Hasney, "gym" teacher, to participate in a modern dance specialty group. They are working on the choreography to "Blue Violins" for the annual sports night program.

"Open House" at Pennsbury high was observed Feb. 5th. Richard L. Currier, director of secondary education, invited parents and friends to attend.

The band opened the program, and Mr. Currier spoke briefly. Members of the faculty presented a resume of work being done currently in various school departments.

World history classes, under Taylor R. Kirby, are using the "U. N.-gram" as visual aid. The "U. N.-gram" shows current events throughout the world. The social studies department receives the material each week with film strips.

Mr. Kirby, stating his opinion, said, "We feel this 'U. N.-gram' will be a valuable aid in the social studies curriculum to keep us aware of present world affairs by the use of maps, charts, and current news items."

A science fair is planned at Pennsbury high for March 7th. The program will be in charge of Conrad Baldwin, chairman of the committee. Mrs. Krespach and members of the Science Club are assisting. Any student from kindergarten to the 12th grade is eligible to contribute projects to the fair.

Dorothy Elizabeth Doan and Michael LoPresti Are Wed

NEWTOWN, Feb. 9 — Newtown Presbyterian Church afforded the setting for the marriage of Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Doan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane D. Doan, Yardley-Newtown road, on Saturday at two o'clock to Mr. Michael LoPresti, Trenton, N. J., son of Mrs. Antonina LoPresti, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Rev. John E. Mertz, D.D., performed the ceremony, with Mr. Fred Haley of Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J., at the organ. He accompanied Mrs. William Melsky as she sang "Because", and "I Love You Truly".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white bridal satin and Chantilly lace, fashioned with fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, with lace inserts, a bouffant skirt with a train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a white orchid on a prayer book, with streamers and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Helen P. Steward, Yardley, the only attendant, wore lime green tulle and taffeta, fashioned with strapless fitted bodice, long full skirt of tulle over taffeta. A Chantilly lace stole completed her ensemble. Her helmet-shaped hat was of matching tulle and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Casimer Pogorzelski, Trenton, was best man, and ushers were Messrs. Robert B. Doan, Yardley, brother of the bride, and Ronald Lucink, Carversville.

Mrs. Doan chose a teal blue crepe ensemble, navy blue accessories, and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. LoPresti, the bridegroom's mother, chose a pink net and taffeta ensemble, navy blue accessories, and her corsage was an orchid.

A reception followed at Washington Crossing Inn. Upon their return from a trip to Florida the young couple will reside in an apartment in Trenton.

The bride is a alumna of Pennsbury high school and is employed by Farmer's Co-Operative Association, Trenton. Her husband, a graduate of East New York Vocational high school, Brooklyn, is in the employ of the Reading Railroad.

Lament and Comfort in Time of Distress
PSALM 76

Aloud to God I cry;
aloud to God, to hear me;
on the day of my distress I seek the Lord.
By night my hands are stretched out without flagging;
my soul refuses comfort.
When I remember God, I moan;
when I ponder, my spirit grows faint.
You keep my eyes watchful;
I am troubled and cannot speak.
I consider the days of old;
the years long past I remember.
In the night I meditate in my heart;
I ponder, and my spirit broods;
"Will the Lord reject forever and nevermore be favorable?
Will his kindness utterly cease, his promise fail for all generations?
Has God forgotten pity?
Does he in anger withhold his compassion?"
And I say, "This is my sorrow, that the right hand of the Most High is changed."
I remember the deeds of the Lord;
yes, I remember your deeds of old.
And I meditate on your works; your exploits I ponder.
2
O God, your way is holy;
what great god is there like our God?
You are the God who works wonders;
among the peoples you have made known your power.
With your strong arm you redeemed your people,
the sons of Jacob and Joseph.
The waters saw you, O God;
the waters saw you and shuddered;
the very depths were troubled.
The clouds poured down water;
the skies gave forth their voice;
your arrows also spad abroad.
Your thunder sounded in the whirlwind;
your lightning illumined the world;
the earth quivered and quaked.
Through the sea was your way, and your path through the deep waters, though your footsteps were not seen.
You led your people like a flock under the care of Moses and Aaron.

Favorite of Mrs. Dacey Is Tomato Aspic Salad

Levittown Woman Shares Recipe With Readers of The Bristol Courier

LEVITTOWN, Feb. 9 — Mrs. John Dacey is the fifth grade teacher in Tullytown school on Route 13, and has of course a very busy day. Her recipe for tomato aspic salad is a favorite of hers and she shares it with all the other busy women in this new community.

TOMATO ASPIC SALAD

1 pkg. lemon gelatine
2 cups tomato juice
2 tsp. chopped onion
1 small pkg. cream cheese
2 tsp. chopped green pepper

Simmer the tomato juice and chopped onion seasoned with salt and pepper for 10 minutes. Pour over the gelatine and let cool. Mix the cream cheese with the chopped green pepper and some mayonnaise to form six balls. Put one ball in each muffin mold and pour gelatine mixture over each to cover cheese. Let set until solid and then serve on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise.

Serves six.

Kaiser Metal Takes Lead By Defeating Celtics; Score 70-59

Kaiser Metal again took undisputed possession of first place in the Bristol Basketball League yesterday by winning over the Celtics, 70-59,. in the Rohm and Haas court.

Kaiser is now in top position, one-half game ahead of Rohm and Haas. The Celtics dropped into third place, one-half game behind the chemical mixers.

Although a 11-point victory, the Kaiser team had to fight to the finish to cop the verdict. It was a nip-and-tuck battle until the final two minutes of play when after Howard Grant sunk in a fielder, Johnny Rodgers followed with three in succession to seal the decision.

Early in the game, the Kaisermen piled up a nice lead of 31-17, but the Celts rallied and soon had the edge shaved to 31-25. At half-time, the score was 36-27. At the start of the third session, Bill Condit scored twice in succession to cut into the lead.

The Celtics went into a temporary lead on Phil Attardo's field goal, 38-37. At 39-39, the score was tied. Eddie Boyle put Kaiser in front with a two-pointer. The score was tied again at 41-41. The Celtics went in front, 43-42, on Don Singer's field goal and at 45-45, it was "Jim" Gallagher who tied it for the aircraft workers. Attardo put the Big Green ahead, 47-45, and Joe Pindar deadlocked the score at 47-47. Gallagher and Attardo scored and the count was tied at 49-49. Boyle put the Kaisermen in front, 51-49, at the end of the third session.

Condit's field goal tied the score at 51-51 to start the final quarter. Boyle converted a foul to put Kaiser in the lead. He followed with a two-pointer, the score going to 54-51. Condit brought the Celtics to within one point of the lead with a shot under the basket. Singer put the Celtics ahead with a twin-pointer, 55-54. Boyle's double-decker gave Kaiser a 56-55 lead. Grant made it 58-55. Attardo scored on a jump shot, making it 58-57. Rodgers scored to increase the Kaiser total to 60. Attardo made it 60-59 with a field goal. It was then that Grant scored and the diminutive Rodgers sewed up the game with Pindar tossing in an insurance two-pointer.

"Eddie" Boyle, former Temple University star, led the winners in scoring with 24 points on 10 field goals and 4 out of five fouls. It was Boyle's best day since joining the Bristol circuit. Rodgers chipped in with six field goals, four coming in the final period while Grant had 13 points.

For the Celtics, it was Phil Attardo who boosted his individual scoring lead by scoring 23 points to Joe Pindar's 7. Condit had 17 points for a losing cause.

Rohm &Haas Team Moves Into Second Place in League

Rohm and Haas moved into second place in the Bristol Basketball League by virtue of its one-sided 73-42 win over the Penndel Aces yesterday on the winner's floor. Rohm and Has is breathing on the neck of the league-leading Kaiser Metal team, being one-half game away.

It was a well-played game until after Marty Bram tied the score at 21-21 mid-way in the second quarter. Nutter put Rohm and Haas in the lead by sinking a foul shot and from then on, the chemical mixers began to pull away, having a 23-point lead at the end of the third quarter.

Hughie Bowe and Walt Zook accounted for 33 of the Maple Beach aggregation's points with Nuter and Bill Butz also hitting the double-figures, and Augie Everitt controlling the boards.

Manager Fred Gerst was the only consistent Penndel scorer, bucketing 9 fielders and two fouls for twenty points.

It was the sixth straight loss for the Aces, dropping them in the cellar of the league.

Game Commission To Have 235,000 Pheasants

The Pennsylvania Game Commission plans to have 235,000 day-old pheasant chicks available for distrbution to sportsmen's organizations to raise to maturity this year, according to an announcement made by the Commission. This exceeds the 1952 record total of almost 228,400 birds.

Started in the early 30's by the Commission when a few thousand surplus birds from state game farms were assigned to clubs to raise, the pheasant raising program is now well known and generally acclaimed. For the past several years the Bristol-Edgely clubs have teamed up to raise an average of 200 birds per year.

Reports submitted by organizations and individuals in the chick raising program last year showed that better than 80% of the pheasants were reared to the required 12 weeks of age. When released the pheasants are put on open hunting territory.
